Dubai Financial Market

- SHUAA Capital has bought 1.13 billion dirhams ($308 million) of debt held by Stanford Marine Group (SMG) as part of its restructuring, the companies said. The plan has helped save more than 1,800 jobs and annual exports of close to $20 million worth of UAE-manufactured vessels at the ultramodern Grandweld shipyard's facility in Dubai Maritime City. The debt buyout has supported banks in exiting a distressed debt situation with a cash recovery. It is good to note that the Dubai-based Stanford Marine Group (SMG) is a diversified offshore services company in the Middle East, with a focus on chartering, building and repairing offshore support vessels for the oil and gas industry.
